

The Laws of the Book of the One Life

In the Book of all books, the unveiling's begun
Of the mysteries and nature of the Being of the One
Deep shall you see into the heart of the Mother
Yourselves you will find there and the lives of others

Study the glyphs that I give to you
They will to a higher level your templates of existence renew
From them will power flow to your being
That which you are, in your environment shall be seen

The First Law

On Earth among you a Mother resides
In glory She reigns, though yet She still hides
Like an infant She is in knowing Her own Being
For Her to discover, the journey begins

Privileged are you, the chosen ones
To learn as She learns about the Being of the One.
Mutual support³ is the new way to grow
It has been decided this knowledge you may know

Why male gods distorted were, was not understood⁴
To set this right, She never previously could
To finally succeed, She Her own Being had to know
Her previous misconceptions She had to let go

Multiple aspects, Her feminine poles,
Govern realms that into eternity go
To understand Her relationship to them, She fervently sought
She was one half, they the other, She thought

But now in the Book, the truth revealed
They are only reflections of the One real Being
The One that is real is the Mother alone
That here on Earth has made Her home

“How can that be? My Creation the reflections are!
Surely not the Mothers-they are more real by far!”
But Her creations are not reflections of pieces of Her
They reflect Her potential, nothing more.

To heal the flaw that distorted the males
Mother needs to relate with Her feminine aspects another way Reflections are they of what's feminine in Her Being
But it's from them that the creation of the gods did spring

Thus little their masculine portions within Whence, as potential reflected, the gods did begin
When not enough masculine within a being exists
When distorted, he turns to destructiveness

Not enough masculine in the other realms could be found
To balance the masculine that in material realms did abound
To pulse between poles is the nature of growth
When imbalance exists, growth does slow.

Then instead of a journey of discovery through love
Darkness became the opposite pole in realms above
The Book of the One Life every individuated Mother can reach
Thus re-created be they, by this first law decreed

Now they reflect not just the feminine pole
But are instead a reflection of the One Mother's whole
Thus as they reflect their potential that's male
They the gods with more wholeness create

No longer now for light and darkness to pulse, is there need
Masculine and feminine poles can pulse now with ease
Pure emotions like a joyous dance interplay
Heralding in growth in magnificent ways

Explanation: The prospect that the One being from whom all life began should make Her home on Earth, may seem implausible. Why, out of trillions of planets, would the Earth be chosen?

Ancient libraries, like those of Isis from which Opening the Doors of Heaven was translated, have opened to humankind. All of them reveal a most compelling secret. The Earth is the cradle of cosmic civilization. It is a genetic library containing the greatest diversity of life found anywhere. Furthermore, Earth did not originate in this solar system.⁵ The history keepers of the cosmos have preserved in sacred libraries the account of Mother's close relationship with the Earth.

Against this background information, it is not surprising that the Infinite Mother and Father would make their home here.

During the cycles of the Fall many imposter gods impersonated the true Father and darkness abounded among them. Mother could not understand why, despite many attempts on Her part to remake and purify them, these male gods' hostility and darkness persisted, until She looked at how they had been created.

The cosmic ascension moved along massive pathways through the macrocosm. These pathways (reflected DNA from Mother's one cell) were kept open by reflections of Her feminine aspects She had placed along the way. To understand this, think of Mother standing between two mirrors with Her reflections receding both before and behind Her forever. These feminine aspects, comprised of only feminine components, were the ones who had to create the male gods of the realms we encountered as the cosmos moved along these massive pathways. But when the male is made with insufficient maleness, as in this case, he becomes destructive.

The first law remedies two misperceptions Mother had due to Her protracted state of forgetfulness: firstly, She had begun to think of Her feminine aspects as real, instead of just minor images. This had to be properly understood by Mother.

Secondly, She remade the mirror images of Herself to reflect Her masculine and feminine parts so that when creating male gods, they had the necessary male components.

Mother hoped that the dynamic pulsations providing energy to the cosmos could now occur between pleasant emotions, rather than between light and dark.

Key to the First Law of the Book of the One Life

1. The Infinite Mother is exploring the mystery of Her Being and the fullness of Her potential.
2. This journey continues forever and ever.
3. She has created reflections of Herself.
4. The reflections are Mother Goddesses.
5. The reflected Goddesses mirror Her feminine parts.
6. The Goddesses govern eternal realms.
7. There is imbalance created. Too much feminine polarity exists this way.
8. The Book of the One Life re-formed all reflected Mothers.
9. The Book's influence extends throughout all life.
10. The light rose in the created gods.
11. Growth comes through support. Creation can now be stronger.
12. The imbalance created contraction which made the gods self-centered.
13. Imbalanced polarity created growth through opposition.

14. The gods tried to expand their power by suppression of the feminine.
15. Masculine energy gives the gods greater perception.
16. Stagnation becomes flow.
17. Through destructiveness death comes into existence.
18. The Mothers are re-created to reflect wholeness.
19. The gods are the reflections of potential created by the reflected Mothers.
20. The One Mother expands by absorbing the reflected Goddesses.
21. The Earth appears as a sun.⁷
22. The moon goddess⁸ loves the Mother.
23. All creations mirror potential. The Earth is the first creation of the One Mother.
24. The Mother studies Herself in Her reflections

The Second Law

That which could not be done without
Within can be accomplished without a doubt
Mother has known that the cosmic strands must combine
As long as they're separated, there's linear time

Also a change that has to be done:
They must not spiral as they merge into one
Like a channel of light by the first law made pure
They straighten their pathway that growth instantly occurs

Explanation: Mother realizes that since the cosmos is but a reflected potential of what lies within Her, all can be changed without by changing within. Mother therefore corrects the vastness without, by correcting it within Her.

Within the one cell of which the cosmos is a reflection, is the holographic pattern of the whole of Mother. She changes the pattern within Her cell by changing Her entire Being. This in turn changes the cosmos.

The cosmos had been progressing on its path of ascension along spiral pathways through the vastness of existence. These were reflections of Mother's DNA. But linear pathways as a means of progression created two problems. Firstly, linear time resulted and evolution occurred as a linear 'becoming', rather than having growth be exponential and immediate.

Secondly, duality arises from separating the threads of the tapestry for examination and learning. Duality had resulted in corruption and, combining Her DNA strands (eight clusters of twelve), Mother began the healing of duality. By changing the spiraling of Her DNA into straight channels, She made change exponential. She also combined Her higher and lower bodies.

The membrane Mother removes between Her higher bodies and the low
For six high strands and six lower to merge, it must be so
Now that She knows that all life but a reflection of potential is
By changing it within the One Life, She changes all of this¹¹

Thus cosmoses move in strings of twelve
Joining into one the potential of multiple realms,
The twelve strands first merge at one time
But there are eight such clusters, you will find

Next move the eight clusters again, joining into one
Eternally to repeat, for this pattern has just begun
The eight clusters of twelve in themselves a cluster make
There are twelve just like them; twelve clusters of eight

Eternally it continues, complexity into simplicity
The strand we are in, increases in luminosity
Thus with the second law, a new light does rise
For it is written in the Book of The One Life

The Third Law

And now it must be clear that the bringing of order and light
Is a never-ending process resulting from increased sight
The more perception is gained, the less darkness remains
A process repeated over and over again

The third law of the Book of the One
Removes the threat that destructiveness can come
The Mother's wisdom, great though it may be,
Until fully awakened, can only reach as far as She can see

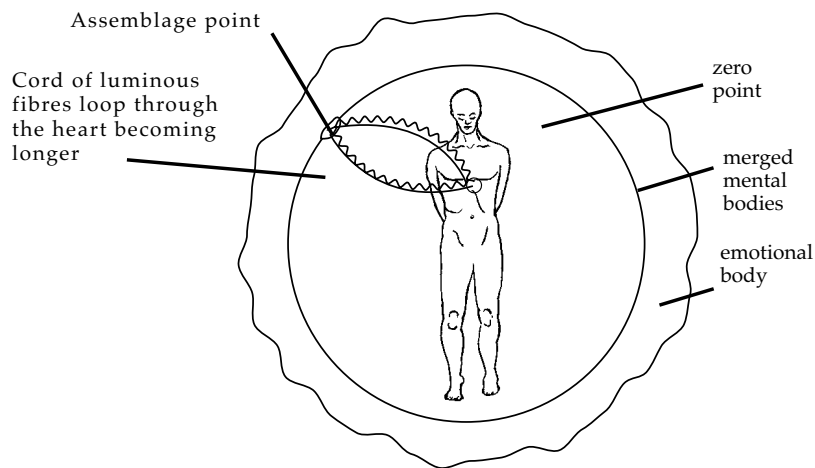

How can She prevent what She does not know
What one day great hostility may show?
Of course it is to remove the hostility within

That may reflect such potential - a good way to begin

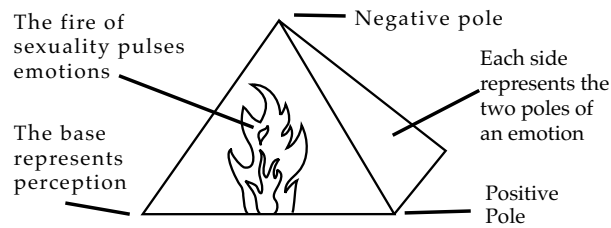

But let it be written in the Book, that before the cosmos in danger can be Mother the necessary changes within Herself can see Thus always one step ahead is She
Of harm that could come; of destruction that could be
